Introduction. The Committee meets quarterly, with ad hoc meetings as needed.

International Experiences for Students. The Committee clarified the roles of the Dean's office and the Center for Global Health on international visitors, with short term visitors usually managed by the center and longer term academic visits by Karen D. through the Dean's office.

Bylaw revision. A significant amount of the Committee's discussion related to the now approved by law revisions to update the Committee's functions and align with other SON Committees and other global health activities within the SON, between SON and other schools and departments, and campus-wide. In the course of this discussion we clarified how to better represent SON global health at other global health groups on campus.

Communications. The Committee is assisting the Center for Global health in its efforts to better communicate the various global health activities and projects undertaken by Faculty. The Committee continues to support the Center's newsletters and other communications.

Curriculum. The Committee had productive discussions on the Global Health Minor curriculum, reviewing the current requirements and options and making recommendations to facilitate students' opportunities to take classes on global health topics.
